GOT HEADACHES? WE HAVE ANSWERS!

PAPER THIN DIGITAL SENSOR THAT FITS BETWEEN THE TEETH

There are two main causes for the types of muscle imbalances that lead to headaches. The first is traumatic injury to the head and neck; auto accidents are the most common source of these injuries. The second is having a bite that does not fit together properly. When a bite does not fit together correctly, there are small traumas or injuries that occur with every bite. These small traumas add up over time and damage the muscles and joints, putting them out of balance.

Do you or someone close to you suffer from chronic headaches? New advancements have increased our understanding of the cause behind these headaches. It has been discovered that imbalances in the muscles of the head, neck and jaws overstimulate the headache center of the brain. When this area is overstimulated, then even normal sensations such as stress, light, or smell can trigger the onset of a chronic headache. Many people manage these headaches with pain medication. However, prolonged use of any pain medication is not the answer and actually will make the pain worse over time.

DIGITAL BITE ANALYSIS SOFTWARE

DIGITAL RANGE OF MOTION STUDY

Modern advancements in digital bite analysis have greatly increased our ability to pinpoint traumatic bites. Once detected, these detrimental bite relationships can be corrected. By combining the healing principles of physical therapy to the injured and imbalanced muscles with our ability to create ideal bites, we have found a unique way to naturally cure those pesky chronic headaches without the need for pain medication.

Please contact us for more information so that we can help alleviate your headaches.
